

At At-Sec we are committed to protecting the privacy of the information that we obtain from you and believe that the information we obtain from our customers should be considered to be private.

Information is collected every time you visit the At-Sec website and otherwise apply for and/or use any of our products and services. By accessing and using the website you confirm that you are giving your consent to us for the collection and use of your information in accordance with this Privacy Statement.

As At-Sec value your privacy we adhere to the requirements of the Data Protection Act and will only store and process your data in accordance with the Act. We also seek to encourage our distributors and suppliers to do the same.

You need to be aware that third party websites which may be linked to the At-Sec website or which you otherwise may need to use to access and obtain any third party products or services featured on the website may contain privacy provisions that differ from this Privacy Statement. Such third parties may use your information differently to the way that we shall use it.

As an e-mail message is sent through a variety of computers over which At-Sec have no control you should be aware that any message you send to us or we send to you may not be secure and any data or information contained in that e-mail may be intercepted by or otherwise become available to a third party. At-Sec also cannot guarantee the timescales within which we shall receive your messages or you shall receive our messages as they are sent by networks and equipment not within our control. We do not in any way control the information or materials (Information) contained in e-mail messages. However, we reserve the right (which we may exercise at any time, at our sole discretion and without notice) to delete, move or edit such Information and in sending such Information, you waive any moral rights you may have in it.

You acknowledge the Internet is not a 100% secure medium for communication and, accordingly, At-Sec do not guarantee the security of any Information you send to us via the Internet. At-Sec are not responsible for any damages you, or others, may suffer as a result of the loss of confidentiality of such Information. At-Sec may use cookies (small files stored on the hard drive of your computer which do not harm your computer) to enable us to record your preferences. However, we do not store any personal information that other organisations could read and understand about you.

The information At-Sec request is the minimum we require to ensure that we are providing you with the best service possible. However, to fulfil your order or request we may have to pass information about your requirements to third parties involved in your chosen service who support us in the provision, use and our administration of such services. Information we pass on is kept to a minimum.